

Arabic	French	Greek
Chinese	Japanese	Portuguese
Polish	Spanish	Turkish
German	Italian	Russian

The names of languages are often like the countries where people speak them. So..._____ is the language of Italy, ..._____ is the language of Russia, and..._____ is the language of Greece. In Turkey people speak..._____ and in Poland they speak ..._____. In Japan, people speak..._____, and in China they speak..._____.

But some languages are not so simple. People speak..._____ in many countries in the Middle East and North Africa. People speak... _____ in Germany, but they also speak it in Austria and part of Switzerland. You can hear... _____ in France, but also in Canada, Belgium and in many countries in Africa. _____ is the language of Portugal, but also of Brazil. And people speak... _____ not only in Spain, but also in most of South and Central America.

And remember!

Names of countries, languages and nationalities all start with a CAPITAL letter: Galician, Basque, Catalan, Aragonese...
